Eleventh Annual Musical Festival

Although the weather was not all that could be desired, being both damp and windy, it did little to dampen the ardor of the large number of contestants who were all out to win the honors of the eleventh annual musical festival held on Tuesday.

From early morning until late at night the streets were thronged with eager youngsters and their tutors from over quite a large area, all anxious to obtain possession of one of the many beautiful and valuable trophies which are awarded in the several classes covered by the festival.

At the Theatre, Masonic Hall and United Church, crowds of proud parents and friends sat long and patiently during the work of the adjudicators, and the officials of the festival sure had a strenuous time before it had become history.

With about the average number of entries, competition was of the keenest throughout the long list of numbers in elocution, music, dramatic, etc., and the numbers which were repeated in concert form at the theatre at night fully proved the value of the training which the winning pupils had received to bring them to such a state of near perfection.

Owing to crowding of our space, a list of winners has to be held over until our next issue.

of the United church in town Mr. Ken Tury asked the Council to grant that body lots 9 to 18 inclusive, in block 21 for park purposes, and with the restriction that the Council could not give them jurisdiction (Continued on Page Four)

Oil Sure Pay Big Share Taxes

There are more than 200 types of taxes in North America imposed on the oil industry.

Several of them are collected on every operation of the business from setting up equipment in the oil fields to selling gasoline and lubricating oil at the filling station. Every product and by-product from crude oil as it comes out of the ground to highly refined gasoline, fuel oil, and lubricants, is taxed.

Producers of crude oil and natural gas, for example, pay taxes on crude oil and natural gas produced, oil withdrawn from storage, sales of oil and gas lands, as well as severance taxes, royalties, proration taxes, anti-pollution taxes, well drilling permit fees, and derrick taxes. Refiners pay taxes on refined products. Pipe line companies pay property taxes on their pipe lines, ad valorem taxes on the crude they transport, and a big variety of other levies.

Marketing companies and service stations pay taxes on the different products they sell. It is a series of tax levies that perhaps no other industry can show, in the total a huge burden, paid by the industry and users of its products.

TOURIST FOLDERS DEPICT NUMEROUS VACATION AREAS

Now that the summer season is approaching, tourists are seeking information about various resorts and, with this in mind, transportation companies have prepared a variety of literature depicting places of interest, suitable for a holiday inland or by ocean shore. In this connection, the Canadian National Railways have now available five attractive illustrated folders in color dealing with a host of particularly fine summer resorts and vacation areas in various parts of Canada. These folders give an ample description of the delightful Maritime Provinces by the Atlantic; Historic Quebec, Canada's old-world province; the vacation playgrounds in the central Province of Ontario; the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific Coast, including the Triangle Tour. Each of these publications is replete with a new series of photographs which give a comprehensive idea of the richness of scenery typical of each territory and the many activities typical of outdoor life across Canada.

The reverend Mother Superior who is in charge of all hospitals, convents and schools in Canada operated by the Sisters of St. Joseph, was in town for a few days last week before returning to her home at Peterborough, Ont.

SPECIAL MEETING RACQUET WELDERS

On Wednesday evening last the members of the Tennis club and others interested held a meeting in the council chambers. The president, Dr. Springbett, took the chair. A good crowd was in attendance and considerable important business was brought up before the meeting. Following a lengthy discussion regarding the fees, it was decided to lower same in hopes that more would join.

Moved by Trustee Collette—That the matter of an x-ray course be left in the hands of the matron.—Carried. The Board then adjourned.

CORONATION CELEBRATION PLANS FULLY COMPLETED

As this is written, nothing remains but the necessity for fair weather to make the full consummation of the work of the coronation committee a thing of pride and satisfaction to all and sundry throughout the Wainwright district, and the day's proceedings something which should live long in the memories of all, both old and young, as a fitting tribute to the new Ruler of Empire, who are being crowned in the world-famous Westminster Abbey in London, England, to be our Liege Lord and Lady of Great Britain and her Dominions Beyond the Seas.

The plans of the sub-committee have all been worked and the parade fully arranged, and no doubt all who come to town will appreciate their efforts in this behalf. The band have been preparing under Band-master Alderman, and lots of hard and long practising has been put into the numbers which will be used for the march as well as those pieces which they will render in their afternoon concert on the grounds of the Federal building.

Owing to the unprecedented rush of orders for medals, and from unknown causes, it has not been possible to procure for Wainwright the commemorative medals which it was planned to present to each child in the parade today (Wednesday), a plan is being worked out whereby each youngster will be given a card upon which to inscribe their name, and this will admit them into the free show at the theatre (and also for the out-of-town kiddies to the lunch in the L.O.O.F. hall) and at a later date when the medals arrive, each child-bearer will receive his or her medal either at the hands of their school teacher or in some other manner. Each child taking part in the parade will positively be given a medal; possibly on May 24th or some date close to that.

On the platform at the school grounds, besides the Mayor of Wainwright, Dr. M. B. McLeod, a prominent man will speak on the occasion and, in addition, to music by the band, a pleasing Maypole Dance is being given by school children, who have been specially trained for this feature.

During the proceedings at the grounds, Mr. F. Wright will operate a public address system so that all may be able to hear clearly, and throughout the time of the gathering portions of the actual radio programme, which will include the speech by King George VI, will be broadcast to the crowd.

From early in the afternoon until supertime the picture at the theatre will run continuously, and all kiddies with their tickets will be admitted free for some three or four hours; altogether it is the earnest wish of the committee that the day shall long remain in the memory of all who join in the celebration with the fervent prayer of

GOD SAVE THE KING.

From the proceedings at the grounds, Mr. F. Wright will operate a public address system so that all may be able to hear clearly, and throughout the time of the gathering portions of the actual radio programme, which will include the speech by King George VI, will be broadcast to the crowd.

Legion Members Entertain at Social

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the Masonic hall on Friday when the members of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., entertained all ex-service men and their wives and also those who assisted in the Vimy show.

Court what was the first item of entertainment with Mrs. F. Thorsen, Miss Wilma Brunner, Miss Dorcas Glass, Mr. O. Croxson, Mr. L. Moffatt and Mr. W. Huntingford being the winners. Each of these were presented with a souvenir of the coronation.

Full justice was done to the lunch which was slightly different and novel and after the tables were cleared several rounds of Bingo, under the management of Messrs. G. Graham and H. Thorsen, were entered into wholeheartedly. Each winner was presented with a small crown clip.

At the same time, under Mr. Geo. Glass' direction, Crown and Anchor caused the patrons to dig down into their pockets for their pennies.

A couple of hours of dancing with Mr. D. Springbett at the piano topped off the entertainment, and all voted the Legionnaires a group of "regular fellows," especially when it comes to putting on social evenings.

LOCAL LADY BEREAVED

BY SISTER'S DEATH

There passed away on Saturday last Miss Anna Matilda Timmins at the age of 71 years, the funeral being held in Edmonton with interment at Beechmount conducted by Rev. D. C. Ramsay of Eskdale United church.

The late Miss Timmins, who was born at Jennville, Ont., came west a number of years ago, and resided in town for some time with her sister Mrs. T. Lane.

Mrs. W. H. Pethick, of Peterborough, Ont., is another sister, and Mr. H. Timmins of Vancouver, a brother, is also left to mourn their loss.

The clean-up gang were busy in town last week and a great improvement is really noticeable. Now by a little co-operation from the householders we can cut the fly swarms down greatly.

On the platform at the school grounds, besides the Mayor of Wainwright, Dr. M. B. McLeod, a prominent man will speak on the occasion and, in addition, to music by the band, a pleasing Maypole Dance is being given by school children, who have been specially trained for this feature.

During the proceedings at the grounds, Mr. F. Wright will operate a public address system so that all may be able to hear clearly, and throughout the time of the gathering portions of the actual radio programme, which will include the speech by King George VI, will be broadcast to the crowd.

Maughan Settlem't Old-Timer Dies

The following taken from the current issue of the McBride (B.C.) Bulletin, will be of interest to a number of our readers:

The death of Mrs. Lewis, which took place on Friday, April 9th, removes from our midst one of the west's old-time settlers. One year after her marriage at Bristol, England, 55 years ago, she left, with her husband for Canada. After three years spent in Toronto, they moved to Calgary, at that time a regular "cow town" in the Northwest Territory. In years spent there they saw Calgary grow to a progressive town and later city. A love for wide open spaces, however, again overcame them, and after 22 years in Calgary, they took the trail again and trekked from Hardisty then the end of the steel to Edgerton, Alberta, where they ranched until coming, six or seven years ago, to reside with their daughter, Mrs. F. Woods here.

The deceased lady was of a kind and cheerful nature, always looking for the silver lining to every cloud. She will be greatly missed by her many friends here. Two sons and two daughters, 18 grandchildren and a number of great-grandchildren remain to mourn her passing. On July 18th she would have reached her 80th birthday. Her husband who survives her is 83 years of age, but is in very poor health.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. E. Reader at the Anglican church, which was filled to overflowing. Special reference was made to the splendid character and life of the departed one.

TODAY & TOMORROW

by Frank Parker Stockbridge.

WORK for shirkers Justice Butler of the Supreme Court, in the course of an argument on the Constitutionality of the Social Security Act the other day, took occasion to remark from the bench that he had observed in the rural districts of America that there are always a large number of able-bodied men who cannot be induced to work. He might have included the cities, also.

Anyone who has been around much knows that a high proportion of the folk who are now being supported at public expense on the ground that they are unemployed are people who never have worked when they could be getting a job. They managed to "get by" before WPA and the rest of the relief agencies began to hand them money for not working.

I do not expect to see the day when relief, either direct or "indirect," will be limited to those who really need it. Too strong political pressure is at the command of those who profit by indiscriminate public alms-giving.

POVERTY and history Whenever I hear someone croaking that in the United States the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer, I go back and read history again. For the fact is that for the 150 years of our history not only the rich but the poor have been getting richer. It may be true enough that a third of our people live below what we now regard as the "American Standard of living," but 150 years ago the vast majority of Americans lived under conditions which most of us would regard as intolerable today.

The romantic novelists are largely responsible for the impression that in Colonial days everybody lived in rather magnificent comfort, in beautiful mansions. The truth is that not one family in a hundred had anything we would call a comfortable home. Most of our ancestors lived in log cabins or slab-sided shacks. The men and women who settled the prairies began life in sod houses. Our national history is the story of that of a people from dire poverty to the widest and largest distribution of wealth the world has ever known. And we're still on the way up.

COURAGE pioneers had it. As I go back over the records of our country's growth, what impresses me most is the courage of those who literally took their lives in their hands to make a place for themselves in a strange, raw country. They had the quality of courage implied in an ancient phrase I often heard in my New England boyhood. It was said of one who essayed a task with which he was unfamiliar that he would "either make a spoon or spoil a horn."

Every person who came to America in our early days had to have the courage to tackle the unfamiliar and face the hazards of the unknown. They not only had to learn a new way of life they had to invent it. If they failed, they died. They knew that. That is a sort of courage which, I sometimes think, we are in danger of losing.

Men who took such chances were gambling their own lives against heavy odds. The American willingness to take a chance derives from that spirit. We have got where we are because, as a people, we have not stopped to calculate the odds against us.

LAWSLESSNESS too common Out of my reading of history and of the American scene, I have come to the conclusion that we are probably the most lawless people in the world. On the whole, I do not worry much about our national habit of calm disregard of laws, which run to our habits, customs and beliefs as to what is right and what is wrong. It is another way of saying that we are still individualists.

We have more laws on our statute books than any other people in the world. Most of them are pure surplusage. They represent the ideas of people who think that reforms can be accomplished by passing a law. It can't be done. It never has been done and never will be.

The only laws which are any good are those which reflect a preponderant public sentiment, laws which seek to change established customs, or to make crimes out of acts which almost everybody regards as harmless, are bad laws. As a people, we pay little attention to them.

CRIME and politics On what constitutes an act of crime there is the difference of public opinion. On the whole, I think Americans desire to see the criminal laws enforced against real criminals, although we are indifferent in the matter of law-made crimes which do not seem serious to our moral sense. We are inclined, however, to be too tender with criminals, and we are reluctant to pay the cost of an adequate police organization to detect and arrest real criminals. And when a criminal is apprehended, he often has enough political influence behind him to escape punishment.

I do not think we shall ever have efficient administration of the criminal laws until the machinery of justice and law-enforcement is entirely detached from politics. That is a very dream which probably will never come true.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES IN CANADA

BOILS Why do we get boils? Why is one boil frequently followed by a veritable crop of them?

Boils are due to a disease germ, oddly enough a germ which is almost always present on the human skin. If so, why does it cause a boil sometimes and not at other times, or in other people?

One important reason is that the unbroken skin is a wonderful barrier to the entrance of germs. Surface germs cannot penetrate this covering unless it be broken or injured in some way. If the skin be broken by a scratch, cut, or bruise, as by the squeezing of a blackhead or a superficial pimple, the germs are given an opportunity to penetrate to the deeper layers of the skin and a boil may result. If the infection spreads through the deeper layers a carbuncle is the result. Sometimes, as in the case of a deep pimple, the infection may go right through the skin and get into the blood stream, in which case we get not a boil, but a cellulitis possibly complicated with blood poisoning.

Another factor is that of the general health of the individual, for this affects the "resistance" of the skin. People who are run-down or debilitated, who have faulty digestion, or follow a faulty diet, who have certain perhaps unsuspected diseases like diabetes, or who are overworked or worried, whose clothing is too heavy or hot, or who burn the candle at both ends, are prone to develop boils.

Once a boil has developed, great care must be taken to prevent spreading of the infection. The boil should be kept covered with sterile dressings, not only to protect them, but to prevent the spread of pus should they spontaneously open. The adjacent skin should be kept free from contamination and the hands should be scrupulously cleansed before and after doing any dressings.

Why do crops of boils so frequently break out in school terms? More than one championship has been lost because of crippling boils. Skin abrasions and overworking may be factors, but greater care should be taken to avoid passing infection from one player to another. Common towels and soap, borrowing of uniforms and cross-infection during the rundown probably play a great role.

In addition to the proper care of the boil itself, the general health of the patient and his daily hygiene should be considered. Diet, body elimination, rest, exercise, clothing, fresh air—all must be checked. Sometimes vaccines are of considerable benefit in raising the body resistance to this particular germ.

The World of Wheat

By H. G. L. Strange, Director, Research Department, Searle Grain Company, Ltd.

A great scarcity of wheat exists! The world is short 500 million bushels of wheat for its consumptive needs!

But are the types of newspaper headlines that have appeared in recent months. They afford to most people a satisfactory reason to explain why price bounded up from $1.00 last fall to $1.50 recently.

During the last three weeks, however, price has fallen some 20 cents a bushel. Many are wondering why wheat in the world, as most people understand the word "scarcity". The truth is simply that the supplies available for overseas export are scarcer than usual, but are far from being actually deficient.

The answer is that the headlines have given us entirely the wrong impression. There is no scarcity of wheat in the world, as most people understand the word "scarcity". The truth is simply that the supplies available for overseas export are scarcer than usual, but are far from being actually deficient.

The average world "carry-over" on August 1st each year, is about 600 million bushels. On August 1st next the "carry-over" will be scarcer than this, but will still be about 500 million bushels, which, of course is a lot of wheat. The United States will have about 100 million, and Canada, some 40 million still left on hand.

Following factors have tended to raise price:—Dry weather in the southern hemisphere—Expected curtailment of Argentine exports—Many complaints of unfavorable European weather—Uruguay lowers import duty on wheat—Norway purchases Australian wheat.

Following factors have tended to lower price:—Improved political situation and lessened European demand—Indian government wheat estimate 30 million bushels above last year—Expected Indian wheat shipments of over 10 million bushels by July—U.S. winter wheat crop progresses favorably in most areas—Rumania permits further wheat exports—Grain shipments resume from Montreal—Spring rains occur in Northwestern U.S. and Western Canada.

Greece has removed import quota restrictions on moving pictures.

A CEREAL TREAT FOR THE FARMER

Spread as far as a baguette, a taste in the exhibition hall at the Central Experimental Farm plucked the curiosity of the crowd when, in April, the staff of this institution played host to the Ottawa Valley Seed Growers' Association. It might have been a breakfast table, for the dishes contained cereal seeds which, on closer inspection by the milling throng, some of whom seemed to forget their table manners, were seen to be reposing on a jelly that covered the bottom of each circular glass dish. There were rows and rows of these dishes containing sprouting seeds of barley, oats, wheat, corn, as well as of beans and peas. The dishes were arranged in paired rows, and it was observed that in the first row of each the seeds had sprouted strong, healthy shoots, and that near jelly on which they germinated was translucent and clean, a really tempting dish. But the seeds in the other row of dishes had germinated weakly and were surrounded by masses of dirty black and brown fungus growth which was responsible for the diseases known as root and stem rots of plants.

"What makes the difference between the two?" inquired one whose interest had been absorbed by the objects on the table, and his attention was directed to the placards above, which informed him the only difference was that one lot of seeds had been treated with an organic mercury dust that not only controls smuts of cereals but promotes germination and destroys the spores of root rot on seeds of all kinds. The contaminated seeds, from the same source as the healthy ones, were untreated. He learned further, that some of the seed used in the tests was from elite and registered stock and shouldered to think that, despite its outwardly respectable appearance, the grain for which he had been awarded a prize at the 'ai might be harbouring the vile spores of root rot. He was so impressed by the evidence on the table, furnished by the researches of Mr. C. A. Scott, Division of Botany, that he vowed there and then to take no risks and to treat all his seed grain this year with the organic mercury dust. He considered the cost negligible, only three cents for the half-pound of the disinfectant required per bushel of seed.

Another feature of interest at the Ottawa Valley Seed Fair was the new automatic seed treater for use with the mercuric dust, which has been installed at the Central Experimental Farm and at most of the Dominion Experimental Stations, as well as in many seed cleaning plants while to wheat growers of the Prairies.

Motorists Must Pay But Lack Returns

Throughout Canada and the United States protests of motorists over the exorbitant taxes imposed upon them are becoming more and more vigorous.

These taxes were imposed for the purpose of building and maintaining roads, although many governments refused to earmark motor revenues definitely for highway purposes.

In most of the states and provinces, motorists have actually paid larger sums than have been spent on road building and maintenance. In most cases also the governments 'bought on credit and sold for cash'. That is, they took the motor revenues into current account and spent them for general purposes, but borrowed the greater part of the money spent on roads, thus building up a huge bonded debt. This combination of debt building and unfortunately in some cases extravagance, was bad enough in normal times. But when the depression arrived, governments promptly stopped spending money on roads, wherever it was possible for them to stop anything, but continued to collect from the motorist in license and gasoline tax at the same or higher rates.

POTASH FOR PLANTS
In 1860, when Baron Justus von Liebig, the celebrated German chemist, established the value of potash as a fertilizer, he realized the dream and ambition of the alchemists of old by virtually transmuting a base substance into gold, for immediately the waste salts supplanted the common salt as the major object of the mining operations, and the search for more potash to meet the world's growing demand for the substance was so successful that new mines soon dotted the landscape all over central and southern Germany. Some of the richest deposits were located in Alsace, now again a province of France and source of supply for that country, with enough to spare for export to this side of the Atlantic.

MODERN WOMEN
CHARL ORMOND WILLIAMS
President of National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

Being a plant physician is a new and unusual profession, and the first woman, as well as the first person, to build up a regular practice of this kind is Dr. Cynthia Westcott, author and doctor of vegetable life. Dr. Westcott, whose book "The Plant Doctor" is fresh from the press, went to Wellesley, took graduate work at Cornell and then gave a year to the study of the swamps of Europe. She returned at the beginning of the depression and acting on a suggestion, became a garden physician. She bought an old garden in New Jersey, hung out her shingle and had regular hours for consultation. She also gave public lectures and eventually acquired a number of clients large commercial growers, florists and owners of some of the finest gardens in her vicinity.

The first lady of Peru, Senora Francisca B. de Benavides, wife of the President of Peru, who is visiting this country is actively interested in social work and the general improvement of working conditions. She will inspect some of our hospitals, centers and settlements to find if we have any new ways of solving the social problems of a big country. She is a member of one of the oldest and most distinguished Peruvian families.

Mme. Odette Keun, of France, has been in the United States some time exploring the South where she became interested in the Tennessee Valley Authority. So keen has been her interest that she has written a book on how this great engineering feat strikes a European. She considers it one of the significant signposts along the road to Occidental civilization. Mme. Keun is a great traveler, having visited England, Russia, Turkey, Africa and many of the French colonial possessions.

New York's Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine has appointed Miss Mary Elizabeth Kennedy his secretary. She was the first woman confidential stenographer to a former Police Commissioner and has served under nine commissioners.

BRUCE BARTON Says:

Human Nature Improves

I have a vivid memory of a certain Sunday morning when I was seven years old. My father, a clergyman, had never purchased a Sunday newspaper. On this particular morning he came down to breakfast looking deeply concerned, and said to Mother: "I feel today that I must know the news before I go into the pulpit."

The news that he felt he must know was about the railroad strike in Chicago, where men were killing each other, and Grover Cleveland had ordered out the Federal troops.

We have made a lot of progress in the intervening years. A wise old professor in my college used to quote the following verse from the Psalms: "What is man that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man that thou visitest him?"

Most people, he said, interpret that to mean: "What does petty, futile man amount to, that you (God) should give him any thought?"

A better interpretation, the professor argued, is this: "What a wonderful creature man must be that even God is mindful of him and likes to visit him."

The Competent Are Rare

An important New Yorker called me up to ask about two doctors who run a clinic in a little town in Canada. He knew I had visited them some years ago and that they did me much good.

I described them to him in the words of one of their patients "They are human ferrets," I said. "They seem to be able to discover and correct conditions where even specialists have failed."

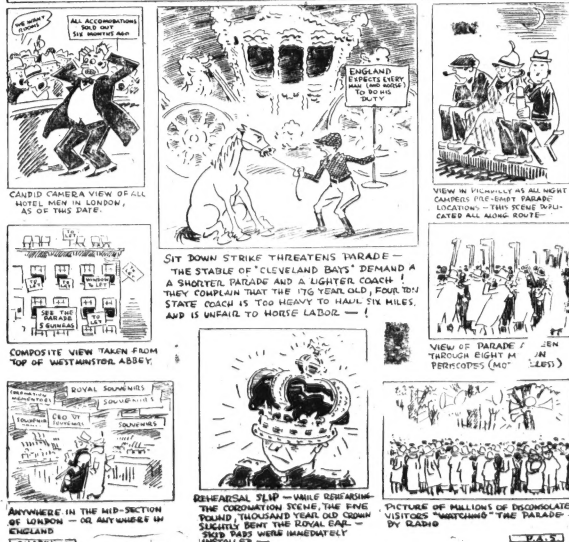

The man went up to the clinic and stayed three weeks. Yesterday he telephoned me to say that he had not felt so well in years. He was so enthusiastic that I could hardly get him off the phone.

I sent another man up to Bill Brown's health farm opposite West Point. The man is vice president of a business that has had plenty of problems. He was nervous and discouraged. He came back from Bill's on top of the world.

I referred a friend to an architect who has done some very clever work for us on our country house. My friend was delighted.

The doctors write me letters of thanks. So does Bill. So does the architect. They think I have done them a friendly service. I reply that, on the contrary, the obligation is entirely on my part. They have given me one of the best pleasures in life, the pleasure of recommending someone who is really competent.

In the eighteenth century a Spaniard was beheaded for using platinum to make counterfeit gold doubloons. Since platinum was then considered almost worthless and since its weight is fairly close to that of gold, it was possible to strike platinum coins and merely gild them to make them circulate for gold. The real gold doubloons were worth somewhat over $8. The value of the metal in the platinum counterfeits has since been as high as $40.

The Family DOCTOR

WORRY IS DANGEROUS

One of the most dangerous influences seems to be abroad in these strenuous days, and it is growing as our cares increase. I can think of nothing quite so harmful to human well-being as WORRY.

Both worry and happiness are states of mind; but the latter is the thing most sought for; men will toil, strive, and wreck mind and body in pursuit of that elusive phantom—Happiness. It seems paradoxical for a man to worry himself insane, in his quest of bliss.

The patient that I really, down in my heart, dread to meet—is the victim of sundown noisiness that will help him. I have traced and, too frequently, good advice slides off him like water off a duck's back. Some, indeed, seem to me to find a sort of suicidal gratification in worry over things that are not even worth crying about.

The man who lies awake nights, grows thin, disagreeable, and hard to get along with, will soon develop a hyperacid stomach and very aggravating indigestion.

I have traced many a case of acidosis to plain, old-fashioned worry. It will most certainly undermine the constitution if persisted in.

Having food and worry, I know of no drug that will help him.

A prescription that is Unfailing in results too. A contented life is a happy life. It's wise to work while the sun shines, for the rainy day is quite certain to come. But there is no sense in trying one system down in a struggle for so-called happiness, which is after all illusory in many cases; simple contentment will turn the trick quicker and better than a cart-load of bromide. Pardon me for writing things that can be understood.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 12th., 1937

Money and time are the heaviest burdens of life, and the unhappiest of all mortals are those who have more of either than they know how to use.

LOYAL GREETINGS

Together with all our readers The Star joins in offering loyal greetings to Their Majesty King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on the occasion of their ascendancy to the thrones of the Great British Empire and their coronation in that office.

Today (Wednesday) people throughout the whole British Empire will be able to listen, for the first time in history, to the actual ceremony of the crowning of their King and Queen by means of radio, and as they listen, loyal hearts every where will respond with the fervent prayer that these may be spared to reign over us in peace and prosperity for many long years to come.

GOD SAVE THE KING
and Bless the Royal Family.

CORONATION

It is over a quarter century since the last coronation. A new generation has come into being—in many ways a new world. During this period much has been said and written against the institutions of our free democracy. Many new currents of thought have sprung up, and have caused a certain drift from the old moorings. New words have been coined with a rather sinister implication when applied to the land of the free assembly of parliaments and the Union Jack.

Now the coronation scene is to be re-enacted before the gaze of a wondering world. Perhaps none will wonder more than the average Britisher or Canadian himself. It will be an overwhelming re-affirmation of our confidence in, and our love of, all that is represented in the British Crown. Where are the subversive elements—the iconoclasts of the past decade? They have all disappeared for the time being at any rate. One wonders if the Hyde Park orators are getting any kind of a hearing these days or if, for the present, they have changed their tune in spite of themselves.

One Canadian manufacturer mentioned to us this week that they have fabricated three hundred and fifty thousand yards of cotton for the manufacture of flags, and that they cannot fill the orders which have poured in from all sections of Canada. Our would-be reformers, in reference to the Crown, have been fairly "blasted" out of existence. The sentiment inherent in the British Throne lies dear to the heart of the average Western Canadian. Our farmers in a real sense are monarchs of all they survey. They are kings in their own domain. "The Crown" sees to it that our homesteaders are sure by sovereign right and up to the measure of its ability, provide a fair market for our various products. So, from the bottom of our hearts we may well sing—"GOD SAVE THE KING".

RESULTS & LETHARGY

"Violence never accomplishes much. If men substituted reason and understanding for violence..." Clarence Darrow, the great legal mind and philosopher, was talking about sit-down strikes when he spoke these words in Chicago last month.

But on careful analysis, you find a close resemblance in principle between the method Alberta adopted to deal with the big problem of high interest rates, and that employed by the sit-down strikers. Both refuse to arbitrate dispute the question from both sides, and then work out a mutual agreement. Both bull-headedly plunge, merely hoping for results and forgetting the consequences. But leave the sit-down strikers for now.

Saskatchewan chose the intelligent method of dealing with the interest problem. The government representing the people, sat down across the table with mortgage companies, representing the people who invested their money in farm lands in the West—many of them farmers in Eastern Canada and their money their entire life savings—and an agreement satisfactory to both sides was worked out last fall.

Net result: Alberta—while interest is not being paid in fact, the government has so far failed to find a method of reducing it. The position of the man who contracted to pay say eight per cent in this province today is as uncertain as the future of the provincial government itself. Saskatchewan—all mortgage interest rates of the companies have been reduced down to six per cent for the last six months, as compared with former rates of upward of seven per cent.

In other words, Saskatchewan has obtained RESULTS. That is the important consideration. Alberta has not.

SOUND ADVICE TO YOUTH

It was sound advice to youth seeking its opportunity which F. E. Searle, superintendent of the Henry Ford trade school gave at the "career conference" lately held in New York. Skill, personality and imagination count for more than "luck" and "getting the breaks," he said. Luck dogs the heels of the competent worker with vision and willing hands. Industry is looking for skilled workers, and a place can always be found for the earnest, energetic man who is willing to pay the penalty of extra work.

Not only Mr. Searle but others at the conference brought out the fact, which youth does not always realize, that the men and women who get ahead in the world are the ones who set no limit on their working hours. For the unambitious 40-hour week suffices. For one who would rise to a better job, the less he thinks of his hours of labor the more certain and swift his promotion comes. Leaders in business and industry do not come out of the ranks of "clock-watchers." The executives at the head of any business always put in longer hours than do any of their subordinates.

Men of experience know that so well that it does not always occur to them that each new generation needs to be taught the eternal truth which Longfellow expressed in familiar verse.

"The heights by great men reached and kept
Were not attained by sudden flight,
But they, while their companions slept,
Were toiling upward in the night."
Employers always know which of their employees are "toiling upward in the night," and have them marked for promotion ahead of those who leave all thought of work behind them when the quitting whistle blows.

Russia plans to produce 350,000 more bicycles this year than in 1936.

CONTINUATION OF TOWN COUNCIL

over the lane running through the property, the request was granted. After a full discussion it was decided that the matter of obtaining a refund from S. T. Buhl for relief supplied to his family while he has been working elsewhere be handed over to the town solicitor.

In speaking to the work of his committee, Coun. Listmore, of Fire, Light and Utilities, presented the following report:

We beg to report that on April 28th we made a complete test of all fire-fighting equipment. All fire hose tested under a pressure of 125 lbs. One length of non-standard thread hose burst at this pressure, leaving on hand nineteen 50-foot lengths of standard thread hose (800 ft.) and fourteen 50-foot lengths of non-standard thread hose (700 ft.) making a total of 1600 feet of hose in good order. This hose is now placed upon the reels ready for use.

The hydrants and line were tested and all was found in good order south of 84th avenue. Three hydrants north of this will receive further attention. There was no sign of any leak in the line. After testing the pump it was found that the large gate valve requires packing, also the pump shows to have some little defect, pressure showing on the gauge at all times, indicating that a check valve is stuck open. The pump hole is very dangerous, being uncovered, and we recommend that these defects be fixed.

We have on hand five defective hose, which we believe can be repaired, this giving four good lengths from the five. We also recommend that an expander be purchased, the cost of this being less than one length of hose.

An enquiry by Mr. R. T. Wright as to possible chance to purchase the twenty 25-feet of certain lots on Main street brought forth the news that an offer had formerly been made regarding these by other parties, and by a motion from Coun. Welch that gentleman may investigate this matter and will have power to complete a deal for same.

The matter of no decision having yet been received by the Town as to the Gas Utility was brought forth by a motion from Coun. Welch that the Secretary was instructed to write to the proper authorities and urge an early decision from the Chairman of the provincial Utilities Board.

The Council then adjourned.

Ralph Waldo Emerson once defined a great story as one which would evoke both tears and laughter.

Minutes of Meeting Grizzly Bear M.D.

Council of the Municipal District of Grizzly Bear met at Wainwright on Saturday, May 1st, 1937, J. J. Nash taking the chair at 10.30 a.m. All councillors present. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and on motion adopted.

Request by Woodvale S.D. for an advance on their repatriation was disallowed. A committee was appointed to investigate claim with respect to a horse injured while working on the road. Secretary instructed to write Woodvale school trustees re the unnecessary high expense entailed furnishing school buses. The question of further relief being issued was discussed, and it was agreed to discontinue same after the month of May, with a number being cut off at the end of April. A number of late seed grain applications were submitted. From the old age pension department that a pension had been granted Mrs. Annie Lewis from department of municipal affairs that the appointment of T. H. Best as auditor has been approved.

That the department is prepared to adopt an agreement with the Board of Review under the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act whereby the Board would restrict the reduction in its proposals to the discounts as allowed under the Local Tax Arrears Consolidation Act. Agreed to make a grant of $10.00 to the Canadian Legion, Vermilion branch. A number of hospital accounts were laid before the council being of the opinion that the parties concerned were able to attend same.

Car Licenses Are Reduced

Strong protests against government "robbing the motorists" are being voiced all over the country. Too long, it is felt, have administrations endeavored to balance their budgets at the expense of the car owners.

For this reason, motorists are halting the action of the Ontario government which has announced a 25 per cent reduction in license fees for commercial vehicles and trailers.

Ontario plans to follow this up with a general flat reduction in license fees for passenger automobiles, after a complete survey to be made next October.

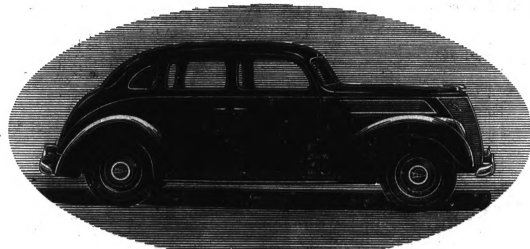

It is significant that Ontario is willing to grant these concessions to motorists, while at the same time it is budgeting for a surplus of $7,300,000 in the present fiscal year.

In this province, the Alberta Motor Association has recorded its strong disapproval of the high license fees, particularly as the returns are taken into the general revenue fund instead of being "ear-marked" for highway improvements.

Undoubtedly action by other provinces in following Ontario's lead would lead to increased returns in other ways. Reduction of taxation is generally counter balanced by increased trade. In the United States the benefits of reduced motor levies have been demonstrated through a greater volume of licenses being taken out. Alberta might well follow suit.

Sylvia Sidney in Color Drama

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is one of the best pictures produced in recent years, not only because it is in color in which the art of intelligently and expertly applying hues and tints approaches perfection but because of the depth and power of its motivating human interest, heart touching story.

Marked by the accomplished and artistic performances on the parts of the players, the picture tells the story of thrilling drama, romance and tragedy.

Into the fastnesses of the Kentucky mountains, where for generations the clans of Tolliver and Fulin have considered their feuding a holy war comes engineer Jack Hale. Saving the life of wounded Dave, he wins the friendship of Judd and Melissa, arouses strange emotions in the heart of June and becomes the idol of little Buddy. He encourages June to leave her mountain home and go to school and when she returns after tragedy has overtaken her home she vents the full torrent of her emotions upon Hale.

"The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" is a picture you should never miss. It shows at the theatre this week-end, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

BANK OF MONTREAL

FIRST CROP REPORT

Below is a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches.

General—Wheat seeding is now well under way in the Prairie Provinces, although it was retarded by wet weather in Manitoba and northern Saskatchewan. Surface moisture, generally is adequate for germination but owing to deficiency in subsoil reserves rains are urgently required particularly in southern and central Saskatchewan and eastern Alberta, where there has been very little rain so far this spring. In Quebec Province the season is late and field operations are not as forward as usual. The maple syrup crop is generally well above average in quality but the run was small. In Ontario field operations are about two weeks late. Fall wheat wintered satisfactorily and old meadows and alfalfa are in excellent condition. In the Maritime Provinces seeding operations will not be general before another two weeks. In British Columbia field operations have been retarded by cool, wet weather. Fall wheat and hay crops wintered well.

Alberta.—Wheat seeding commenced two weeks earlier than last year and is now fairly well advanced. Surface moisture is considered sufficient to start germination. Except in the northwest and Peace River districts there is practically no subsoil moisture, and frequent rains in the growing season will be necessary. Wheat acreage is about the same as last year.

Saskatchewan.—Seeding operations on the whole, are now well under way. Surface moisture is sufficient for germination in most sections. Apart from the northern districts, little rain has fallen and as subsoil reserves are inadequate, good rainfall will be required throughout the growing season.

Manitoba.—Field operations were delayed to some extent by a heavy snowfall and general rains towards the end of April, but seeding has commenced and is progressing favourably. Seed bed conditions are satisfactory for early growth, but subsoil moisture reserves are low and further rains would be beneficial.

Ontario.—Seeding operations have been retarded by cool, wet weather. Fall wheat and hay crops wintered well. Surface moisture is considered sufficient to start germination. Except in the northwest and Peace River districts there is practically no subsoil moisture, and frequent rains in the growing season will be necessary. Wheat acreage is about the same as last year.

Quebec.—Field operations were delayed to some extent by a heavy snowfall and general rains towards the end of April, but seeding has commenced and is progressing favourably. Seed bed conditions are satisfactory for early growth, but subsoil moisture reserves are low and further rains would be beneficial.

HORSE CRASHES

RICH HANDICAP

Comedy is emphasized in this light, reasonably swift little metropolitan story utilizing several elements of varied interest, horse racing, bank robbery, the coal business, theatricals and a spot of racketeering. The type of comedy varies from the mildly subtle to the outright slapstick material supplied by Andy Clyde. The romantic interest is carried by Joel McCrea and Joan Bennett, both discharging the assignment in characteristic fashion.

In this picture "Two in a Crowd" which shows at the Elite theatre Monday and Wednesday only of best week, the story brings Boy and Girl together in a crowded street on New Year's Eve when each finds half of a thousand-dollar-bill, a circumstance necessitating their continuing together until the bill is cashed. Boy owns a one-horse racing stable and Girl hasn't any money

The Legion Notice Board

Under this heading, week by week, the Wainwright Branch of the Canadian Legion will announce meetings, reports of activities, and other matters of general interest to members and ex-soldiers generally.

Coronation Day, May 12th. All ex-soldiers are asked to parade at the Town Hall on Wednesday (today) May 12th, to assist in the parade of school children and others from the Town Hall to the School. Medals and decorations to be worn and it is hoped that a supply of Legion Caps (Field Service Pattern) will be available. This parade is called for 9.45 A.M. sharp.

The Legion Ladies night held last Friday in the Masonic Hall was well attended and according to all reports well enjoyed by all. Bully beef and biscuits comprised the rationales. Well cheer up ladies, next time it may be bully beef and hard tack.

 In New York an ordinary car costs $600, but a full protection insurance policy costs $300. In Alberta the same cars cost $900 but the insurance policy written by the same company costs only around $40. More cars are being sold this year than ever before and every new car on the road makes your need for accident insurance greater. Joe Welch specializes in car insurance, and will explain it to you without obligation.

There was a dangerous threat of a bad fire on Saturday when rubbish was blazing in the vicinity of the Progress lumber yard. Chief Renville had the thing controlled before the fire got away.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Davison were down from Dods over the week-end to visit their parents.

WARNING!

FAILURE OR SUCCESS AT YOUR AUCTION

Which do you want?

The whole story of failure or success of an auction goes back to the advertising, for unless you invite people to attend your sale, you cannot expect a big crowd. And, unless the crowd is big and the bidding brisk, your livestock and machinery will sell at any old price, far below actual worth.

The Star will take the details of your sale to the farmers who really want to know what you are offering.

MODERN farmers depend on the newspaper for auction needs.

If you want a successful auction, advertise your sale in these columns, where it will reach the persons most interested in what you have to offer.

Make your invitation attractive. Make your sale seem worth attending. After all, you can't expect a big crowd at your sale unless you tell people about it. A farmer will travel fifty miles or more to get what he wants. Unless you list everything, you may leave out just what would bring a good bidder to your sale. The success of your auction depends on competition. A good bidder may mean hundreds of extra dollars at your sale.

This Week in Washington

By its unanimous decision upholding the Constitutionality of the Wagner Labor Relations Act, the Supreme Court of the United States confirmed the right of Labor not only to bargain collectively on questions of hours and wages and other matters, but to intrust the bargaining to a single organization which shall represent all employees of any given employer. The decision is far-reaching in its effects and implications. Not alone in Labor matters, but in its possible effect upon the present issue raised by the President's request for power to name additional justices and so "liberalize" the Supreme Court, this decision is regarded here as the most important since the invalidation by the Court of NRA and AAA.

Five cases in which the National Labor Relations Act was in question were decided. The controlling decision, on which the Court was unanimous, held that a business clearly engaged in interstate commerce must permit its employees to organize and to elect a Labor organization of their own choosing to represent all employees as their sole bargaining agent. In case of refusal of an employer to bargain under such conditions, the workers can appeal to the National Labor Relations Board, which is required to conduct an investigation and then issue orders based upon the facts disclosed.

Only the workers can invoke the Labor Relations Act. Employers have no recourse but to accept the Board's rulings. If the majority of their employees vote to elect Mr. Lewis's C.I.O., or any union of the Federation of Labor, as their sole representative in negotiations with the employers, then employers are bound to recognize the outside Union. On the other hand, if a majority of the workers decide on their own "company union" as their representative, then any outside union is barred from acting for any employee or group of employees. The principle of the law is that there must be but one union organization recognized for any particular industry or business establishment. Moreover, employers are punishable under the law if they interfere with union activities, attempt to influence union elections, or dismiss a worker for union activities.

Of the five decisions upholding the Labor Act, the Court was divided, five to four, in four cases. The issue in those cases was not, however, the right of the Federal government to prescribe rules for Labor negotiations, but whether in those four cases interstate commerce was involved. Justices Roberts Stone, Brandeis and Cardozo agreed with Chief Justice Hughes in broadening the interpretation of interstate commerce, so that the unanimous decision upholding the Act in interstate commerce applied to all five cases.

Controversy Not Over
The Battle for Court reform is far from being over, however. It is the most intense controversy which has divided Congress in many years. It forms an effective dam to block all important legislative measures until it is out of the way. Both parties in both houses of Congress recognize this, and the members are determined to get the Court issue resolved before buckling down to the other major questions awaiting their actions.

Leaders of both parties in both Houses are seeking a formula for compromise, with the question still in doubt as to whether the President will accept a compromise. The plan most favored by the compromisers is an amendment to the Constitution which might have a chance of acceptance by the necessary two-thirds of each House, and would put the issue up to the people of the states.

One result of the Court proposal has been to turn Senators and Representatives to a closer study of the Constitution of the United States than some of them had ever given to that supreme law of the land. Even among those not sympathetic with the Administration's policies and methods, the feeling is growing that the times call for a more specific definition of interstate commerce than the Constitution now contains. The development of modern industry and transportation tends to wipe out the lines which formerly clearly separated interstate commerce from purely intra-state transactions. There is no question of the right of the Federal government to regulate interstate commerce down to the wages paid to workers and their hours of labor. Therefore the purpose of those who believe the Federal government needs broader powers in such matters would be served by an amendment declaring every business and industry whose products or merchandise ever crosses the state line or which are distributed across state lines to be interstate commerce.

Prompt Solution Important
Whether two-thirds of the states would agree to such a broad surrender of their rights to do their own regulating is another question. There is a feeling on Capitol Hill that such an amendment would be more likely to succeed if it were put up to state conventions elected by all the people than if it were left to the legislature to ratify. Either method of ratifying an amendment is permitted by the Constitution. The suggestion is being seriously made that an amendment be proposed for convention ratification, delegates to be elected in each state at next Fall's elections, and the conventions to be held before Christmas, so that the next Congress, meeting in January, will know just where it stands.

If this or some similar amendment proposal prevails, it will, more likely than not, include an amendment providing for compulsory retirement of Supreme Court justices at 70 or 75, or after a given term of service, and fixing permanently the number of justices of the Court.

Until all the Court proposals, of which only a few have been suggested here, are out of the way, Congress is practically at a standstill so far as such vital matters as reducing Federal expenditures, increasing taxation, and shaping permanent Labor and Relief policies are concerned.

NEWS & VIEWS OF TOWN AND DISTRICT

TODAY (Wednesday) BEING CORONATION DAY, OF COURSE ALL STORES ARE CLOSED, BUT NEXT WEEK SHOULD SEE THE WEEKLY HALF-HOLIDAY COMMENCING ACCORDING TO OLD-TIME CUSTOM IN OUR TOWN.

At the week-end a prairie fire just west of town fanned by the heavy wind was endangering the home of Dave Dundas and others, and a call came in for the town fire brigade. Some of the boys responded and with the help of park employees made everything safe.

Mr. Jim Lewis is preparing to leave for the States soon to take training with the United States air force.

Improvements in the line of re-shingling, sun porches, and so forth were noted this week. Everyone seems to have a more optimistic spirit and the town homes are improved by these additions, etc.

Mayor Dr. Middlemass, who was away to the coast, visiting his mother there, returned home on Sunday's train.

We understand that Mrs. Jack Davidson was the lucky winner of the beautiful coronation quilt which was drawn for at the W.I. doings on Saturday last, when a successful bake sale and tea was held.

The rain of the past two days has at least stilled the terrific dust storms from which the whole district had suffered for over a week. The moisture will give the newly seeded crops a good start, too!

Miss Josephine Middlemass is receiving congratulations these days on her achievement of having won her degree of bachelor of arts from the university of Alberta last week. Mr. M. Meade, of the high school staff also attained the same honor, too.

Both the auto and the horse suffered considerable damage last week when Mr. O. Croteau, while driving home from town, ran into a loose horse on the roadway.

The home of Mr. E. Devignon north of town is being re-sided and painted these days which means a big improvement.

Material from the local refineries is being used for re-roofing the hotels at Chamrousse and Holden. This splendid asphalt carries a 15-year guarantee.

The painters are now through with their re-decorating the boarding house in the farm enclosure at the Buffalo Park.

Mr. Carlson, of the Cummings district, went through town on Sunday last with a large flock of sheep which he was moving to summer range quarters near Chinook, Alta.

Mr. Pete Penning was up from Gadsby at the week-end and drove his stock to their new pastures down south.

We are glad to note that Mrs. Mary Ganderton, who has been so very sick for the past few weeks, is now able to be back at her business for a few hours each day.

The forest fires which were rampant last week south-west of Edmonton, nearly cut short the supply of lumber for the Atlas yards in this territory, but luckily several carloads arrived in Wainwright the day preceding the fire.

After a stay here of nearly two and a-half years, Rev. F. Bennett of the Regular Baptist denomination, leaves this week for Benalto, Alta. We understand that Mr. Albert Phillips, of Calgary, will take over these duties.

COMING EVENTS

The ladies of the United church W.A. are holding a pie and cake sale on Saturday afternoon May 22nd, in the W. S. Clark store. Don't miss this opportunity of getting your desserts for week-end dinners or picnics. 19-5

All persons intending to play golf this season are asked to hand in their names at the Standard Pharmacy or at the Bank of Montreal as it is intended to arrange a "President vs. Vice-president" draw as soon as possible for both men and women players. The annual golf tournament on May 23rd and 24th will provide match play rights for all.

Mr. G. Armstrong has now finished painting his home on Sixth Avenue east, and Mr. Walberg, who lives opposite is busy with an addition to his home.

We learn that Mrs. Clara McLeod, who was sick in the hospital last week, has now returned home.

On Monday last Mr. E. Bonner moved his family from town to a farm holding near Edgerton.

We regret to note that Mrs. J. A. Mackenzie was taken suddenly ill on Monday morning and was removed to the hospital. At last reports she is still suffering great pain.

Although Roland Prosser has somewhat recovered and is now off the sick list, his younger brother Vernon, has joined the ranks of sufferers from flu.

Mr. Chas. Hawthorne journeyed over to Vegreville at the week-end to visit his parents. He was accompanied by Mr. Alec Adams who paid his parents a visit.

We understand Mrs. W. Mackay, jr., who was removed to the city for specialist treatment last week is still very sick. Unfortunately Mr. Mackay, jr., is still at the university hospital there for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perkins were spending a few days in Edmonton during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Welch dined over at Chamrousse to visit friends there on Sunday last.

Owing to a slight accident at the Fraser refinery last Saturday night, Mr. J. Alderman, jr., suffered burns about the face and head. He is now back at work.

A real worth-while response was enjoyed on Saturday to the "tag day" appeal by the ladies of the W.I. and the financial returns were gratifying.

The Atlas yard is to receive several carloads of the new season's mill cut of lumber from that company's logging operations at Rocky Mountain House. No matter what you want in building material it can be obtained at a saving from the Atlas yard. Joe Welch.

Mr. Bruce Springbett, who some years ago was on the teaching staff in town, was here on a visit to his brothers last week-end.

Mr. W. Carwell was a business visitor to the city last week for a day or two and Miss Agnes was there for the week-end.

More and more, careful drivers are buying full protection accident insurance policies for their cars. Joe Welch specializes in car insurance.

Owing to being struck accidentally by a baseball bat while at play, little Doreen Courcier is suffering from a badly cut lip and the near-loss of one of her front teeth.

No material used in building adds so much to its value or its appearance as paint does. Insurance companies figure a frame building on a good cement foundation which is painted occasionally depreciates one per cent. per year, which means it will last one hundred years. The same house without paint will only last 30 years. Besides, it is attractive, prevents the wood from shrinking and keeps your home warmer and drier. Bapoo pure paint is sold by the Atlas Co. and it is the best obtainable. Joe Welch, agent.

Mother's Day services were held at all the churches on Sunday last, while the evening gathering featured a service in connection with the coronation commemoration.

Dr. H. Courcier journeyed to Vermilion, last Friday, being accompanied by Mrs. Courcier, who was the appointed adjudicator for solo work in the school festival held there. Mrs. W. Clark was also one of the party.

Mrs. T. Lane and her daughter Marion were in the city to attend the funeral of Miss A. M. Timmins on Tuesday.

At the United church on Sunday last the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Goodale was christened Elizabeth Evelyn by the pastor Rev. T. E. Armstrong.
